What Motivates You?

The Flag Page is an effective way to get your spouse to tell you how they feel – all without them saying a word! And because the program is so easy, positive and non-threatening, you can get them actually talking about how they feel as they discuss their Flag Page printout.

Unlike many on-line assessment programs that can ask hundreds of questions, the Flag Page is completed in 3 simple steps and can be done in as little as 5 minutes. The Flag Page is not a personality test, nor is it a assessment of your strengths and weaknesses.

The Flag Page measures one thing: passion – what you truly love the most about life. And it is these fundamental feelings that motivate everyone to live out their daily lives.

When you learn what truly makes your spouse tick, you will discover the key to successfully living with him/her.

Visit the Flag Page website to learn more about what motivates you.

STEP 1

First, you are asked to choose as many traits as you honestly believe describe who you are. It is important that you do this from a general perspective, because most everyone CAN be any of these things. For example: can I be “Low Key”? Sure I can. But does that generally describe who I am? Absolutely not! Therefore, I would not pick “Low Key”.

If you are unsure of the meaning of a specific word, simply move the cursor over the word and a simple definition will appear in the lower left corner.

Step 1

Choose as many traits that describe you.

Ignore the ones that don't.

Competent Watch people Sensitive Never a dull moment

Consistent Persistent Faithful Enthusiastic

Witty Perfectionist Stay in background Optimistic

Dry sense of humor Idealistic Deep thinker Inspirational

Steady Precise Strong willed Flashy

Sympathetic Unique Bold Good on stage

Low key Creative A born leader Great sense of humor

Easygoing Artistic Tons of confidence Fun

Calm Musical Self sufficient Loves people

Patient Organized Goal setter Cheerful

Peaceful Economical Moves quick to action Warm

Avoids Conflict Thoughtful Independent Curious

The easy way Serious Unemotional Sincere at heart

Good listener Neat Life of the party Thrives on encouragement

STEP 2

Now, on a scale of 1 to 10, you rate how good each of those traits makes you feel. A 10 means the trait makes you feel very good while a 1 means it just makes you feel “OK”.

Step 2

For each trait, answer this:

"How good does this trait make me feel?"

10 makes you feel very good. 1 feels just ok.

STEP 3

Finally, you decide on the 5 traits that make you feel the very best - in order of importance to you.

In seconds, the program calculates your input and creates your custom FLAG PAGE. A single, colorful print out that reveals

1. Why you act the way you act,
2. Why you re-act the way to do,
3. What five things you need in your life to truly be happy, and finally
4. Where you are most likely to succeed in life.

Chapter 3
CONTROL COUNTRY

"But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only..."
- James 1:22

Drive • Determination • Focus • Take Charge
• Get It Done • Power • Serious

First, we have the rectangular shaped land of Control Country where everything is either black or white when it comes to the ways of Control people. Their number one cry - Get It Done! Their eyes can be steely and intense, their motions abrupt and they can put out some pretty strong vibes. Their voice can carry the sound of impatience and they are usually more interested in talking than listening. Their statements can come across as intense and their words can be quick, abrupt and to the point.

The shape of their land represents their hard and very direct ways. The people of Control country share the belief that it is necessary to control their own environment. Their favorite vehicle is the bulldozer. They love to make a way where there is no way, while they move on to higher and greater accomplishments. The down side? They can sometimes plow over the people closest to them, and they are often totally oblivious to the fact they are doing it until the people around them cry out from their flattened position, "Hey, you're killing me!" The Control person may take notice, but will most likely respond "Yeah, but look at what I've accomplished!"

Jonathan often found himself being untruthful with his wife, Julie. Not big, nasty lies. Just little "omissions" and "creative re-enactments" of the truth that was starting to really frustrate her. Jonathan

FUN COUNTRY

"Rejoice in the Lord always. I will say it again: Rejoice!"
- Philippians 4:4

Happy • Social • People • Mingle • Connect Fun • Humor
• Entertain

Next, we have my home: Fun Country. The star symbolizes Fun people's desire to perform and be the star of the show. Our battle cry is - Have Fun! The jet plane is our symbol for high speed and no limits. Unfortunately, we have been known to smash into brick walls from time to time. Others around us may ask, "Why were you going so fast?" "Why didn't you slow down when you saw the wall coming?" "Why do you take such stupid risks?" But no matter what reasonable question is posed to us, the answer is always the same, "Because it was fun!"

Fun people love to smile. In fact, we smile when we are talking on the phone, even though we know the other person can't see us. We find humor in virtually everything, even when it may seem odd or inappropriate.

Several years ago, my grandfather on my mother's side passed away. Though I never really knew him, I thought it would be the respectful thing to do and I accompanied my mother back to Puerto Rico to attend the funeral.

During the wake, I sat back and watched the many uncles and aunts I never really knew (Wisconsin is quite a long haul from the Caribbean) and saw that they laughed and seemed to find humor in almost anything - even at this sad occasion. Clearly, I come from a long line of Fun people.

Chapter 5

Perfect Country

"Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect."
- Matthew 5: 48

Ideal • Exact • Precision • Feelings • Caring • Making a Difference

Next, we find the land of Perfect Country. Perfect country's diamond shaped land represents these residents because they long for perfection with an inborn need to be precise and exact in all that they do. The train on the track is the vehicle of Perfect people because they want predictability and to know that they are going somewhere specific. If the rails are not exactly in the right place, the train cannot go forward. Perfect people are known for "stopping the train" if things aren't just right. As a result, they are frequently confused with Control people and often hear "you are such a control freak!" They, however, do not desire control of their environment like the residents of Control Country. In fact, when you accuse a Control resident of being in control - they usually smile and agree with you. When you accuse a Perfect resident of trying to be in control, they feel insulted. They are not trying to control things, rather, they desire that everything be right before proceeding. In Perfect country, the residents can't stand it when things are wrong. They want to "get it right" under all circumstances. While Control people desire appreciation and Fun people want to be noticed, the residents of Perfect crave order and structure.

Chapter 6
Peace Country

“Let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts, since as members of one body you were called to peace.”
- Colossians 3:15

Harmony • Cooperation • Getting Along • No Conflict • No Disturbance • No Tension

Finally, we have the cloud shaped land of Peace Country – a land where you will find harmony and cooperation. Just as clouds move along at a leisurely pace, so do the residents of Peace Country. When war breaks out between the other Countries, Peace people quickly find a place to hide. When the bullets stop flying, they appear once again and quickly ally themselves with the winner. To these people, what truly matters is that we all get along.

When a Peace person feels validated and understood, they become their very best:

- Competent
- Consistent
- Witty
- Patient
- Peaceful

As we take a look at these four temperaments, keep this in mind: it is not likely that you will be described with 100% accuracy. Every person is an individual, and we do not assume that everyone in the world can be perfectly summed up into four categories. If God can make billions of people and no two have the same fingerprint, I think it is safe to assume that God has created people with infinite varieties of temperament traits. I love the fact that the FLAG PAGE takes this into consideration. While many other assessments simply categorize everyone into basic groups, the FLAG PAGE shows how much you register in each group, as represented by the scores of each country. We will discuss the scores later in this book in greater detail. For now, just realize that it is the combinations of all of these scores that show just who you are.
